R A D I C A

R A D I C A

Radica is a project that offers new perspectives and gives us the chance to interpret once again some of Visionnaire's most beloved products with a timeless allure.

The walnut briar-root, coming from Erica Arborea, is the protagonist of the capsule thanks to the preciousness of its multiple veins and natural designs, which characterize it and which make each insert a unique piece.

The manufacturing process of the briar-root is extremely sophisticated and gives even more value to the end product.

The briars are first squared and then cooked in steel tanks. The cut is made through a machine with a fixed blade, around which the briar wood is rotated. In this way, thin sheets are obtained. They are then pressed, carefully cut, latterned and joined.

The cutting of the material is carried out carefully so that the seams' sheets are practically invisible.

Measurement and joining are performed according to customer specifications.
